Mark,

Thanks for the update on the CBI issue. I will contact the requester regarding this to see if they want us to go through the entire process with the documents that contain an assertion to CBI.

Hi Alan,

I finished working w/ Lori Hallauer this morning to ensure the 104(s) are properly organized and coded in SEMS.

Attached is the confidential 104(e) table we discussed. As I mentioned during our meeting this morning, Columbia Falls Aluminum Company initially claimed CBI for all documents produced in response to EPA's 104(e) information request. The company later waived its CBI claim with respect to a limited subset of the documents responsive to EPA 104(e) question 7.

That leaves approximately 43,759 pages that are not releasable at this time due to CFAC's CBI claim, with 2,747 pages releasable.

The attached confidential table tracks all of this. Please do not release the table outside the agency. I'm happy to answer any questions you may have. Thanks for talking this through with me this morning.

Thanks,
Mark
